The Vajrayana path is a complex and multifaceted one, but at its core is the practice of mindfulness meditation. Mindfulness is the ability to be present in the present moment, without judgment or distraction. When we are mindful, we are able to see the world clearly and to respond to it with compassion and wisdom.

In addition to mindfulness meditation, the Vajrayana path also includes the practices of mantra recitation and visualization. Mantras are sacred syllables or phrases that are repeated over and over again. Visualization is the practice of creating mental images of deities or other enlightened beings.

These practices are all designed to help us to awaken our innate Buddhahood. By practicing mindfulness, mantra recitation, and visualization, we can begin to see the world through the eyes of a Buddha. We can begin to experience the clarity, compassion, and wisdom that are our birthright.

Momentary Buddhahood: Mindfulness and the Vajrayana Path is a comprehensive guide to the Vajrayana path.
