Unveiling the Hind's Arsenal

The Mil Mi-24 Hind's formidable firepower is showcased in "New Vanguard 171" through detailed descriptions and captivating photographs. The book meticulously catalogs the helicopter's extensive armament, including:

- 12.7mm Yakushev-Borzov Ya-B 12.7mm machine guns: Mounted in a nose turret, these machine guns provided a concentrated barrage of fire against ground targets.
- 30mm Gryazev-Shipunov GSh-30K cannons: Located in underwing pods, these cannons delivered devastating firepower with high-explosive and armor-piercing rounds.
- 9M114 Vikhr anti-tank guided missiles: Fired from wing-mounted launchers, these missiles boasted exceptional accuracy and armor penetration capabilities.
- 57mm S-5 unguided rockets: Carried in rocket pods, these rockets provided a devastating area-saturation effect against enemy positions.
- AT-6 Spiral ATGMs: Introduced in later variants, these advanced anti-tank guided missiles significantly enhanced the Hind's ability to strike armored targets.

A Versatile Battlefield Predator

"New Vanguard 171" vividly portrays the Mil Mi-24 Hind's unparalleled versatility, demonstrating its adaptability to a wide range of missions:

- Close Air Support: The Hind's heavy firepower made it an indispensable asset in providing air support to ground forces during offensive and defensive operations.
- Anti-Helicopter Warfare: The Hind's Ya-B machine guns and GSh-30K cannons proved highly effective in engaging and destroying enemy helicopters.
- Anti-Tank Warfare: Armed with Vikhr and ATGM missiles, the Hind possessed exceptional tank-killing capabilities.
- Troop Transport: The Hind's spacious cabin could accommodate up to eight fully equipped troops, making it valuable for troop insertion and extraction missions.
- Medical Evacuation: The Hind's versatility extended to medical evacuation, its cabin easily reconfigurable to transport wounded soldiers.

Operational History: A Legacy of Conflict

The Mil Mi-24 Hind's operational history is a testament to its enduring capabilities. It has seen extensive combat in numerous conflicts, including:

- Afghanistan War (1979-1989): The Hind proved its mettle in the rugged terrain of Afghanistan, providing air support to Soviet forces and engaging in intense aerial battles with Afghan resistance fighters.

- Persian Gulf War (1990-1991): Iraqi Hind helicopters played a significant role in the early stages of the conflict, attacking Allied armor formations.
- Chechen Wars (1994-1996, 1999-2009): Russian Hind helicopters were heavily employed in the brutal Chechen conflicts, providing close air support to federal forces.
- 2003 Invasion of Iraq: Iraqi Hind helicopters attempted to engage American forces but were outmatched by superior air defenses.
- Syrian Civil War (2011-Present): Syrian Hind helicopters have been used by both government and rebel forces, playing a key role in urban combat and counterinsurgency operations.
